

The FCC should definately not mandate digital television copyright protection. The industry desires to eliminate not just illegal uses, but also fair rights. With the DMCA, having any form of encryption in place takes away my fair use rights, as it's no longer legal to decrypt the signal for any purpose, even those provided for by law. Please don't take away more of my rights.